What is a Search Engine?

A search engine is a web site connected to a database that catalogs other Web sites. It will search the actual text of other web sites. A computer search program, or spider, follows links on web pages to regularly and automatically rebuild this database.

Let's Do Some Searching!

How advanced search syntax will make your searches better

- Reduce the number of results you have to look through
- Get more relevant results that are specific to what you're looking for
- Bring your relevant results right to the top
- Access better information, faster
- Gain a better understanding of how a search engine works

Some Hints

- Start simple
- Ignore spelling
- Use web friendly words - instead of saying my head hurts, say headache
- Less is more - Simple, one or two word search terms will usually give you the broadest results. Start with short search terms, then refine your results by adding more words.
- Use descriptive words
- Add words found on resulting pages
- Don't worry about cases - Search isn't case sensitive
- Don't worry about punctuation Search ignores punctuation such as @ # % ^ * () = [] \ and other special characters.

Speed Test

A screenshot of a Google search results page for the query "speed test". The Google logo is in the top left. The search bar contains "speed test" with a microphone and search icon to the right. Below the search bar are tabs for "All", "News", "Shopping", "Videos", "Books", "More", "Settings", and "Tools". The "All" tab is selected. Below the tabs, it says "About 32,100,000 results (0.36 seconds)". The main result is titled "Internet speed test" with a Wi-Fi icon. The description says: "Check your internet speed in under 30 seconds. The speed test usually transfers less than 40 MB of data, but may transfer more data on fast connections. To run the test, you'll be connected to Measurement Lab (M-Lab) and your IP address will be shared with them. M-Lab conducts the test and publishes all test results to promote internet research. Published information includes each device's IP address, but doesn't include information about you as an internet user." There is a blue button labeled "RUN SPEED TEST" and a link labeled "About". At the bottom right of the result box is a "Feedback" link. Below the result box is a link to "Speedtest by Ookla - The Global Broadband Speed Test" with the URL "www.speedtest.net/" and a dropdown arrow. Below that is a description: "Test your Internet connection bandwidth to locations around the world with this interactive broadband speed test from Ookla." and a footer with links: "Ookla Speedtest · Speedtest for Desktop · About · Speedtest Awards".

The screenshot shows a Google search interface with the query 'led or lcd' in the search bar. The search results page displays 'About 88,300,000 results (0.95 seconds)'. The first result is a snippet from Digital Trends titled 'LED vs LCD | Digital Trends' with the URL 'www.digitaltrends.com/home-theater/led-vs-lcd-tvs/'. The snippet explains that ordinary LCD TVs use cold cathode fluorescent lamps (CCFL's) for backlighting, while LED TVs use an array of smaller, more efficient light emitting diodes (LED's). Below this, there are three more search results, each with a title, URL, and a brief description:

- LED vs. LCD: which is better? - CNET
URL: <https://www.cnet.com/news/led-vs-lcd-which-is-better/>
Description: Jul 6, 2011 - Samsung seemingly came out of nowhere with its "LED TV" range.... Samsung's televisions use a series of Light Emitting Diodes (LEDs) — like the ones used in LED torches and alarm clocks — to "backlight" the LCD panel, and it's not the only company that does this.
- What is the Difference between LCD and LED HDTVs? — QVC.com
URL: www.qvc.com > Electronics
Description: When it comes right down to it, the main difference between LCD and LED is that LED televisions are going to look better than other LCD screens. That's not to ...
- LCD Vs LED, Which one is better? | PC Tech Magazine
URL: pctechmag.com > Features
Description: Nov 26, 2014 - On an LCD TV, the lamps at the back of the screen are fluorescent lamps, whilst on an LED TV the lights at the back of the screen are Light Emitting Diodes (LED). ... Majority of LED TVs fall in the edge-lit without local dimming category, with the LEDs placed only along the edge of the LCD panel.

Boolean Search in Google

- AND: Searches for all the search terms you specify, e.g., search Amazon AND Rainforest for websites that include both terms.
- OR: Searches for one term or another, e.g., search how to draw OR paint if you'd like results on either term but not necessarily both.
- Group words in a phrase with quotation marks, e.g., search "sausage biscuits" for results that include only the words together.

Boolean Operators Are Case Sensitive

Google may not care about uppercase or lowercase letters in search terms, but Boolean searches are case sensitive. For a Boolean operator to work, it must be in all capital letters.

For example, a search for freeware for Windows OR Mac gives different results than a search for freeware for Windows or Mac.

Google Search Tips, Tricks and Hacks

One of the largest hurdles of using Google is the amount you must weed through. Manipulate your Google search with a couple hacks to retrieve a more relevant set of results.

- site:XXXX
- -XXXX
- filetype:XXXX
- cache:XXXX Retrieves an older version of the page from Google's cache

Refining the Search

There are many other ways to manipulate your search within Google:

- Word order--add your search terms in the order you think they will appear on the page
- Wildcard--an asterisk "*" can substitute for a word in a phrase
- Synonyms-- use a tilde: ~ in front of a word to find terms that Google thinks are synonyms for your term.
- Stemming-- Google will automatically stem a word (stem will find stems, stemming, stemmer, etc) unless you put a plus symbol "+" in front of it.
- Common words-- Drop superfluous words such as and, but, this, that, etc from your search. Google will ignore them anyway so save time and don't type them.

Google has Hidden Games in Search

You can play these games within the default Google.com itself, without visiting any other site.

Then there are other games that were part of Google's famous doodles but aren't available easily since the doodle keeps changing. Don't worry though, there are sites where these playable doodles are still active today.

Here are the fun hidden Google games you can play within Google Search or the browser.

Google Search Operators: The Complete List (42 Advanced Operators)

Joshua Hardwick ■ Updated: August 3 2020 ■ English ▾

For anyone that's been doing SEO for a while, Google advanced search operators—i.e., special commands that make regular ol' searches seem laughably basic in comparison—are nothing new.

Here's a Google search operator you may be familiar with.
